INDIE'S CLIMB TO THE SUMMIT

Through our “Golden Ticket” offer for Indie 3.0, which allowed ALL fellows and residents from an institution to be registered for the Indie together, we were proudly able to host 15 full PRS residency programs:

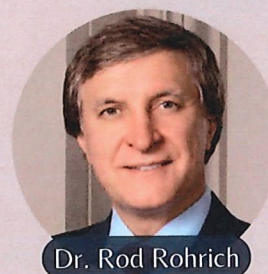

TESTIMONIALS

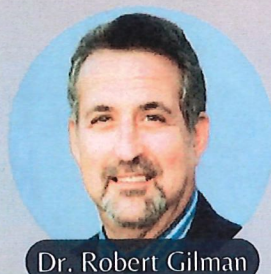

Dr. Al Aly

“The nature of learning and the way information is delivered to the learner is dramatically changing. The Indie meeting is an example of the needed adaptation to those changes. "The Indie Way" is a novel mixture of focused lectures and extensive discussions by experts that leads to learning in vertical and horizontal directions - i.e. everyone walks away with nuggets of information, even the experts.”

“What an amazing and unique interactive educational venue with a round table of the world experts on all aspects of cosmetic surgery you simply can not get by going to a national meeting since every session was packed with vital and useful clinically information that you can apply in your daily practice. These are the things that you do not get or learn in other meetings, ie, how to deal with complications and how to prevent them . Keep it up.”

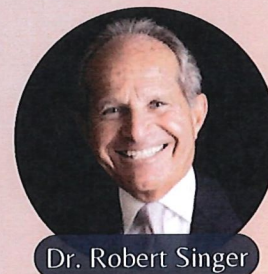

Dr. Rod Rohrich

Dr. Robert Gilman

“What a privilege it was to join the faculty for Indie Summit. I have never seen a more impressive faculty in one room together for 2 full days sharing literally hundreds of years of practical experience in aesthetic plastic surgery. My only regret is that such a symposium was not available when I was a senior resident or early in my practice. Great work Lorne and Jeff!”

“The Indie Aesthetic Surgery Summit virtual meeting was a tremendous success. I am proud to have been part of the faculty. It was a unique forum addressing multiple pearls, surgical tips, and discussion of complications and how to avoid them and treat them. The Indie forum was different from any other meeting to date.”

Dr. Robert Singer

Dr. Marissa Tenenbaum

“This meeting was such a breath a fresh air. As a faculty member I thoroughly enjoyed putting my talks together and listening to all of the other panels discuss their accelerated learning curves. This is truly something missing from most of our meetings. I loved seeing honest results and average cases from colleagues that I have long admired. It takes a lot of courage to show results that are only average, but we learn so much collectively when we do that and speak openly and honestly about them.”

Dr. Michael Zenn

"If you want the polished presentations with only the best results and little of the complications or learning curve, go to just about any plastic surgery meeting. If you want the actual "dirt", the "things I learned on my learning curve", the "things I don't do any more", the "don't ever do this technique"; or the "here's how to fix this difficult problem," talks, the Indie Aesthetic Meeting is for you. Unfiltered, unvarnished information for the "real" aspects of plastic surgery practice."

"Finally...a "no BS allowed" meeting. Presenters could not recycle old talks, there were robust discussions with significant audience participation, and most interesting of all- Drs. Rosenfield and Marcus held all the presenters' feet to the fire. Nothing gets past those guys! It was tough for the presenters, and that was great for the audience. You knocked the leather off the ball with that meeting...it was unbelievable..."

Dr. Steven Teitelbaum

Dr. Jeffrey Roth

"I think it was unique in the honesty that was displayed. I know you hand selected the faculty for this. I felt that everyone there wanted to be there and participate in something new, not give the same lecture to check off a box. To have guys who are on the podium show us their disasters and then tell us they are still trying to get it right was really something special and refreshing. I know that you have been thinking and working on this for several years. I am glad that it finally came to its fruition."

"I felt very privileged to be part of the Indie Aesthetic Summit. A refreshing transparent honest approach to teaching from experts. The learning curve just got flattened!"

Dr. Galen Perdikis

Dr. Thomas Fiala

"The Indie meeting really had a different feel and approach than the traditional ones – and that was refreshing! The faculty was a "Who's who" of plastic surgery – a hand-picked A-list of surgeon-presenters known for their teaching. It was eye-opening to hear open and honest comments from very experienced surgeons about the things that didn't work long-term, and the changes to their personal practice techniques that did, and helped them reach a new level of expertise. Can't wait for next year! Highly recommended."
